NEWS AND COMMENT.

THE President has assured the Boer delegates that he will do anything in the world that is within the limits of his power for them except help them.

A BREWERY has been struck by the same bolt of lightning that knocked down two Methodist ministers. Now the question is which was Jupiter aiming at.

SUPPOSE CUBANS had been guilty of the Cuban peccadillo? What wonderful editorials we should have had on the subject of their inability to govern their island honestly.

WHAT is the use of making all this trouble about a little thievery in Cuba? Rathbone was merely trying to run things as he ran Hanna's campaign in Ohio a few years ago.

In the Democratic primary in Davidson county Saturday, the following ticket was chosen: For Sheriff, Lewis Hurt; for Trustee, Len K. Hart; for Tax Assessor, J. Mat Williams.

THE Democrats of Kentucky have decided to hold two conventions this year; one on June 14, to select delegates to the National Convention, the other on July 19, to select a candidate for Governor. The call will invite the participation of all known democrats who will pledge their support to the ticket and platform in November.

THE administration is trying to break the force of the Cuban revelations by having resolutions introduced in Congress to pay back to Cuba the amount stolen from that island. But this alone will not do. The money is nothing compared to the fact that men who have done dirty work for Hanna in political campaigns have been knowingly appointed to office and then left free to loot the island revenues.

AMAZING reports come from the Philippines. Secretary Root has refused to accept the resignations of seven officers and it is stated that General McArthur has 200 more in his hands, and that the enlisted men are very near mutiny over the work required of them. It is said too that the hundreds of Filipinos reported killed are merely guessed at, as their bodies are almost never found. This is pretty state of affairs.

DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Part of the City Grain & Feed Co's. Mill Burned Friday Night.

Loss Estimated at About $10,000, with Insurance to the Amount of $8,200.

The City Grain & Feed Company have again become heavy losers on account of fire. Friday night about 11:15 o'clock, the western section of their mill near the depot, in which was located the shelling machinery, was discovered in flames, and in an hour's time was totally destroyed.

When discovered, the fire had gained considerable headway, and so rapid did it burn, that before water could be gotten upon it the entire upper portion of the building was a mass of flames. The fire company and the volunteer fighters did good work, however, and succeeded in confining the flames to the building where they originated. The main part of the mill and the engine room, situated east of the burned building, and the warehouse, situated west, were uninjured.

The origin of the fire cannot be explained. Nightwatchman Dowell states that the blaze was first seen breaking out beneath the roof in the eastern part of the building. The mill was not in operation at the time, having been closed down during the afternoon on account of a break in the machinery. The mill was practically new, having been finished only since last summer. The entire plant, it will be remembered, was destroyed by fire during the spring of last year, and was rebuilt on a more extensive plan. The building was fitted throughout with new machinery, and a quantity of corn and other material was also stored therein.

A correct estimate of the loss sustained cannot yet be made, but it will probably reach $10,000.

Insurance was carried on the building and contents to the amount of $8,200, in companies represented by Messrs. Gordon & Rutledge. The intentions of the company are not known, but it is presumed that they will rebuild as soon as possible.

A STROLL THROUGH GREENWOOD CEMETERY.

In this quiet old cemetery, situated on a bold bluff of Duck River, there rests, free from their labors, many whose very names are now strange to all of us. Many who were active here in their daily pursuits in the long, long ago, have none now left to shed a tear or lay a flower on their last resting place. Again, there are those whose names are familiar to us all—many pioneers, mostly from Virginia and North Carolina. A number of the Polk family are buried here. Among them the father and mother of President James K. Polk. Near by is the grave of James K. Polk's erratic and brilliant brother, William, who was a Union man during the Civil war, and died, I believe, in Nashville in 1862, his remains being brought here for burial. Two of these old Polk monuments bear the scars made by the Union cannon while on retreat before Hood's army.

The first man buried here—no tradition says—was killed by a vicious station. Not far away is a head-stone with the following inscription:

JAMES M. POST, HILLSBORO, N. H., Shoeman. This stone was erected by the Zoological Branch No 16.

This man was a member of a circus troupe that in that early time traveled over the dirt roads of the country—for at that time there were no railroads nor turnpikes nor telegraph wires. The show tent was pitched where the residence of Mr. J. P. Street now stands. Post was an acrobat, a high jumper and a tight-rope walker. In attempting a double somersault over the elephant, and spotted ponies, the poor fellow tumbled, fell and broke his neck, and tumbled into—eternity. Aunt Sallie White used to say that his funeral procession was the most imposing she ever witnessed, the entire company headed by the band participating in the procession. "Requiescat in pace."

One finds many quaint and unique epitaphs here. One old monument bears the following:

"Sacred to the memory of P—R—, stepdaughter of L—B—, who was born 1798 and died 1816, aged 18 years 6 months."

Immediately beside this is a smaller monument with the following simple inscription:

"Sacred to the memory of John, infant son of P—R—; born 1816, died 1816."

Poor young mother! Poor little babe! There seems to have been no husband—no father. Sleep on, little one! There is eternal rest for the weary in that beautiful land that you have entered into. There, with all others, you are the children of a king.

About the centre of the cemetery there is erected to the memory of a young wife the following unique epitaph, which seems more in the form of a love letter addressed to the living husband by the dead wife:

"All is well with me, husband—Why in sadness dost thou mourn? Is thy youthful companion By death from thee torn? The Hand that affects thee will kindly sustain: Though parted at present, we'll soon meet again."

William Coldstart, who built the first bridge across Duck River at this place, fell from the bridge and was killed, and is buried here. John McGimpsey, a Revolutionary soldier, sleeps his last sleep in Greenwood. The inscription on his monument relates that "he was a native of Ireland, who fought and bled for his adopted country."

Many years ago, an old gentleman by the name of Polk, hunting for a hen's nest among the graves, found in one of these old-fashioned, box-shaped monuments a large sum of money, which had been stolen from one of the banks and concealed by the thief in this place.

But few people are interred in Greenwood nowadays, nearly all of the burials being in beautiful Rose Hill.

TIME AND SPACE

are practically annihilated by the ocean cables and land telegraph systems which now belt the circumference of Old Earth in so many different directions. "Foreign parts" are no longer foreign in the old meaning of the term. Europe, Africa, Asia, are "next door" to us. What happens there to-day we know to-morrow—if we read THE CHICAGO RECORD, whose Special Cable Correspondents are located in every important city in the world outside of the United States. No other American newspaper ever attempted so extensive a service; and it is supplemented by the regular foreign news service of The Associated Press. For accurate intelligence of the stirring events which are shaking the nations—of wars and rumors of wars—of the threatening dissolution of old governments and the establishment of new—of the onward sweep of the race in all parts of the world—the one medium of the most satisfactory information is the enterprising, "up-to-date" American newspaper, THE CHICAGO RECORD.

CRISIS IN PEKIN.

Foreign Troops Must Be Sent There in Order to Protect the Legations and Foreigners.

Shanghai, May 29.—Reports received here indicate that affairs around Pekin are extremely critical owing to the defeat of the government troops by the "Boxers." It is now regarded here as certain that foreign troops must be sent to Pekin to protect the legations, while the withdrawal of missionaries from the interior is considered imperative. Large portions of the province of Pe Chi Li and Shan Tung are in a state little better than absolute anarchy, and disorder is spreading in the province of Shan-Si in consequence of the encouragement received from the empress dowager.

Pekin, May 29.—The diplomatic corps have decided to ask the Tsung Li Yamen (Chinese foreign office) to define explicitly the measures which the government intends to take in dealing with "Boxers."

Uninstructed Delegates.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 5.—The first congressional district convention in Tennessee selected Congressman Walter P. Brownlow and Attorney General M. F. Henderson as district delegates to the Philadelphia convention. They are uninstructed.

Studying the Impression.

"How is that speech?" asked the ponderous statesman.

"Fine. It was concise, lucid and interesting. You made every point perfectly clear."

"Do you mean to say you understood it right away?"

"Yes."

"Well, I'll have to take it home and rewrite it; that's all. If people fully understand what you have to say the first time you say it, they are mighty liable to think you're not deep."—Washington Star.
